With the recruiting and rule changes it's going to be important that you keep your grades high, your baseball IQ higher than the rest and you compete your butt off from now until you get to AZ. If you aren't working out daily you probably shouldn't be going to this event. Just being honest to you and your parents. It's a commitment and it's either you are committed or you are not. No gray area. Get in the weight room and train on the field. I am ready to get after it, are you.
